

CCH Asked To Join Athletic League Composed Of High School Alumni

By JIM BOSTON

Church College of Hawaii may have the chance to participate in an athletic league next year.

"Red" McQueen, sportswriter for the Advertiser and locally known as the Dean of Sportswriters in Hawaii, recently mentioned in an article that CCH will be invited to play in a league composed of high school alumni next year.

The league president called Coach Al Lolotai asking that CCH consider coming into the league and even went so far as to place CCH on a tentative schedule. Two teams, the Tantalus Rangers and the Rural All-Stars, both previously operating as independents, have already begun play this year.

The league, once it gets underway, is scheduled to have six teams with the CCH included.

When I interviewed Coach Lolotai, he stated that the proposal was under serious consideration at this time and that the community and the college really need something of this sort. Coach Lolotai has been asked to fill a position in the proposed league. He feels he can help create good, clean sports for Hawaii through participation in the league.

Many problems are faced by the Church College if this proposal is accepted, financing the different athletic teams being only one. However, the resultant uplift in school spirit would almost repay for the initial cost of uniforms and equipment, and the competition would undoubtedly be a great attraction to many seeking a higher education.

Accreditation Team Holds High Positions

Some of the top educators of the nation are members of the accreditation team from the Western Colleges Association who will visit the Church College of Hawaii Thursday and Friday to assess the College's bid for four-year accreditation.

Members of the team are William H. Lucio, chairman; Agatin T. Abbott; Glenn S. Dumke; Franklin P. Rolfe; and Wade F. Thomas. All are Ph.Ds. and all hold high positions in education throughout the nation. Chairman William H. Lucio is assistant dean of the School of Education, University of California, Los Angeles, California.

DR. KAY J. ANDERSEN, Dean of Instruction at the Church College of Hawaii. Under Dr. Andersen's direction preparations have been made for the four-year accreditation visit that takes place this week.

Dr. Agatin T. Abbott is a member of the Department of Geology at the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho. He is presently at the University of Hawaii. Dr. Glenn S. Dumke is presently president of San Francisco State College.

Dr. Franklin P. Rolfe is Dean of Humanities of the University of California at Los Angeles. He was with the preliminary team that visited the College last fall. Wade F. Thomas is presently president of Santa Monica City College, Santa Monica, California.

Copies of the accreditation self-evaluation report prepared by the Church College faculty under the direction of Dean of Instruction Kay J. Andersen were in the hands of the accreditation group three weeks ago. The current visit is for purposes of an on-the-spot look at the College.

If the accreditation team approves the request of the Church College for accreditation, a formal notification will probably be received by late February or early March. Successful accreditation will mean that the first four-year graduates will be graduating from a fully accredited institution.

The Church College was accredited as a two-year institution in October, 1959. A preliminary visit on the four-year accreditation proposal was made in August, 1960. Following this, a visit for January, 1961, was recommended for the purpose of a full-scale accreditation.

Contests Scheduled For Founders Day

Highlight of Founders Day at the Church College of Hawaii, Monday, January 13, will be contests in speech and writing on the subject "How can the Church College of Hawaii best achieve the purposes and goals envisioned by its founders?"

Winners of the speech and essay contests will each receive a $25.00 War Bond from the Church College. The winning speech and the winning essay will also be presented as featured parts on the Founders Day assembly.

Deadlines for the contests are February 1 for the essays, February 8 for the speeches. Essays should be from 500 to 750 words in length, should be neatly typed or written in ink on one side of the paper, and if typed should be double-spaced. Speeches should be from eight to ten minutes in length. Both essays and speeches will be judged on content, organization, clarity, interest, and originality.

Prof. Norman Riggs is in charge of the contest, and other members of the Language Arts Department are assisting. Students who desire to participate in the contest are urged to contact one of the speech or English teachers for help.

The AWS annual Preference Ball will be held on Friday, February 24, from 8:00 to 11:30 p.m. in the Gym. So get out your best formal bib and tucker and pick YOUR Mr. Wonderful.

Invitational Basketball Tourney Scheduled for Friday and Saturday

The annual Church College of Hawaii Invitational Basketball Tournament will be played here this week-end, Friday and Saturday, January 20 and 21.

Competing will be the University of Hawaii varsity, the champions of Honolulu Stake in M Men basketball, the Oahu Stake champions, and the Church College varsity team. The University of Hawaii J. Vs. will surely feel surrounded by Mormons and, consequently, should be out to make a good showing.

The games will be played both Friday and Saturday nights at 6:30 and 8:00.

Friday night's first game pits the University of Hawaii J. Vs. against Oahu Stake in the late game CCH meets Honolulu Stake.

In the Saturday night finals the losers battle for third place in the first game, and the winners of Friday night play meet for the championship trophy at 8:00 p.m.

Last year the Invitational wound up in a three-way tie for first place, the MIA All-Stars, the University of Hawaii J. Vs., and CCH each receiving a trophy.

This year the sports staff of the Ke Alaka'i picks as favorites the CCH team to win the trophy.

Stagner To Give Talk Tomorrow

On Thursday, January 19, Student Body President Ishmael Stagner will deliver the State of the Student Body Message at the student assembly, which will be held in the auditorium at 11 a.m.

Mr. Stagner will present the problems that we have had in the past in order to give the student body members a better view of what problems were and are in existence so we can try to cope with them more effectively in the future. There will be time for a question and answer period wherein all students who desire to ask any questions, make criticisms, or contribute suggestions may do so. Helping President Stagner to answer any of the questions that might be asked will be Ralph D. Olson, Dean of Students; Dr. Kay J. Andersen, Dean of Instruction, and other faculty members as they might be needed.

Faculty Sells CCH to Public

The Church College Community Services Committee, which is headed by Prof. Joseph H. Spurrier, have arranged some faculty teams to visit the various high schools in the Hawaiian Islands. Purpose of these visits is to acquaint local high schools more fully with the many advantages claimed by the Church College.

The faculty teams point out that, in addition to the many other advantages of the college, CCH students pay only 15 per cent of the costs of instruction, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints paying the remaining 85 per cent.

Community Service Committee members are Prof. Spurrier, Dan Witt, Jack Bowen, Dr. Kay Andersen, Dean Ralph Olson, Wayne Allison, Joseph Dixon, Norman Riggs, Richard Waite, Ross Allen, and President Richard T. Wootton. The object of the committee is to "sell" the Church College to the public.

Faculty Committees Will Solve Problems

Are you worried? Do you toss restlessly at night, wondering what to do? Do you need and want help?

Be of good cheer; help is near. President Richard T. Wootton this week announced appointments to the Church College of Hawaii administrative committees for the 1960-1961 school year. From now on the obvious solution to your problems is simply to refer them to a committee.

Dean of Instruction Kay J. Andersen enjoys the distinction of being the member of the most committees; he serves on eight different committees. Other committee assignments are about evenly divided among the other members of the faculty.

The committees are as follows, with the chairman being in each case the first person named:

Athletic Council: Coach Al Lolotai, Frank Condie, Joseph Dixon, President Wootton, and the Student Body President.

Attendance and Scholarship: Dean Ralph Olson, Duane Skinner, John Higgins, and Jerry Loveland.

Awards: Dean Ralph Olson, Richard Waite, Ross Esplin, the Student Body President, and the Student Body Vice President.

Certificate Council: President Wootton, Dan Rhodes, the Division Heads, the Deans, and Duane Skinner.

Community Service Council: Joseph Spurrier, Kay J. Andersen, Ralph Olson, Duane Skinner, Dan Witt, Wayne Allison, Norman Riggs, Jack Bowen, Joseph Dixon, Richard Waite, and President Wootton.

Curriculum Committee: Dean Kay J. Andersen, the Librarian, the Department Chairmen, and President Wootton.

Emergency Organizations: Gwynn Barrett, Jack Bowen, Wayne Allison, Jerry Grover, Norman Riggs, Barbara Christensen, Ralph Olson, and Dan Witt.

English Standards: Ross Esplin, Dean Kay J. Andersen, Gwynn Barrett, Richard Waite, Kenneth Slack, and Edwin Sorensen.

General Education: Dean Kay J. Andersen, the Division Heads, and President Wootton.

Graduation: The Registrar and the Division Heads.

Guidance: Dan Rhodes, Geneva Winterrose, Ralph Olson, the Division Heads, and Jack Bowen.

School and Students Get Check-up

Tomorrow an accreditation team from the Western College Association will come to the Church College of Hawaii to observe and study the program and objectives of our college and decide whether CCH meets the requirements to be an accredited four-year college.

The five members of the team will have complete charge of the school during their two-day visit. They will go into classes, they will interview various students at random, and they will check the program of CCH closely to see that it is in compliance with our objectives and that we have sufficient materials to meet our objectives.

This visit and what the team will tell us will provide a great service for this institution. It will give the college a chance to look at itself—to see where and how improvements can be made.

In less than two weeks the first semester of this school year will be over, and we will be taking final examinations to test the knowledge we have gained.

Probably some students will begin their studying the last week trying to cram everything into their minds at once, and the No-doze company will find business doing quite well out Laie way. But those who will do best have been working steadily since school started absorbing a little each day and profiting from past mistakes.

The outcome of these tests will give us a chance to look at ourselves. Did we pass the test or should we have spent more time on that botany course instead of shop-talking at the snack bar every night?

But whichever kind of student you are and whatever the results of the testing, it isn't too late to take stock of and accredit yourself in doing the best possible from here on out.

Should Attendance at Devotional Assemblies Be Compulsory?

YES:

The weekly devotional assemblies are an important part of the curriculum of the Church College of Hawaii. They were instituted as a means of furthering the spiritual growth of the students. Now the question arises concerning compulsory attendance at these weekly devotionals.

There is much to be said against compulsory attendance, for it would seem that students of college level are mature enough to make such decisions for themselves. One's free agency is a priceless possession, for only with the experience of picking and choosing for oneself can a higher level of maturity be achieved. It would seem that this free agency is being denied when students are compelled to attend devotionals, and in this light it would seem that the students are being denied an opportunity for advancement in this respect.

The question then arises—why do our school officials impose such regulations upon the student body? Obviously they must have justification for such actions. Those who oppose the regulation say that mature college students are able to choose for themselves, but the obvious question arises—are they mature? Their actions do not seem to indicate so. The attendance at past assemblies has been low even though the quality of speakers has been high. Therefore the students must be led like sheep to the water.

"A horse can be led to water, but he can't be made to drink" is a tried and true adage. When a person is compelled into an action his natural reaction is one of rebellion. This was my first reaction to compulsory attendance at devotionals when it was announced by my religion teacher. But as I have analyzed the situation a little more thoroughly I realize that although I consider myself a mature college student capable of making my own decisions I am one of those who seldom attend the assemblies even though I realize that they are for my own betterment.

Therefore I am grateful for the administration who through their wisdom and experience have made attendance at devotionals compulsory, for I am the one who will benefit in the long run.

NO:

Devotional assemblies can benefit most of us students in many ways during our college days, but to make assemblies compulsory would mean taking away one of the greatest things we have—the freedom to choose for ourselves.

By attending devotional assemblies we can gain knowledge and receive a spiritual uplifting. The assemblies give us an opportunity to learn sacred songs, gain greater knowledge of the gospel, and become more familiar with spiritual leaders of the past and present. Through the assemblies we not only gain knowledge of our own religion but of the worship of people throughout the world, which gives us a better understanding and appreciation of our fellowmen. So often an assembly will have a strong message that will either help us now or in later life. The assembly period is a time when we students can feel a real unity and closeness because, as different as we are, this is a time when we join together in likeness to worship the same God. The assemblies give us a chance during the week to count our blessings, recall our trespasses, and resolve to do better by living nearer our teachings.

When we are young, we are often told what to do and what not to do, but by the time we reach the college level we should be allowed—in fact, encouraged—to make our own decisions. The teachers and administration should strive to guide us in the right way but leave the final decisions to us.

One decision we should be allowed to make is if we want to attend the devotional assemblies or not. There are several reasons why a student at our school might not wish to attend: Some students have chosen this college for financial or locality reasons. They think primarily of the school where they can gain knowledge and achieve their goals. These students should be given what they are here for without forcing anything else on them. Also very often an assembly has a poor speaker who has little to offer. A student should not be made to waste his time if he feels there is something more worthwhile he could be doing. Furthermore there are students at our school who are not Christians. These students should not be forced to worship our God when they have their own God and way of worshiping.

Devotional assemblies are definitely for our good, but making them compulsory would do more harm than good. Compulsory assemblies could offend students of other faiths and, above all, take away our greatest right in America—the right to choose for ourselves, whether it be the choice of attending a devotional assembly or otherwise.

PRESIDENT RICHARD A. WOOTTON chats with George Romney while attending a luncheon at Church College following Mr. Romney's address to Church College students.

President Romney Urges Students To Find Purpose and Work for It

"Each of us is here for a special purpose," declared George Romney, president of American Motors, at the Church College of Hawaii assembly Wednesday, January 4.

Brother Romney, who is also president of the Detroit Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, told his audience that it is the duty of every person "to seek out that purpose and realize it." He said that to accomplish this it is often necessary to do other things not previously planned on. College students are "solving the problems of education" for a bigger purpose.

The conviction "The key to success is to do your present job

Book About Dr. Judd Gives Isles' History

For those of you who would know the history of Hawaii, the 1960 biography of Gerrit Parmeli Judd, Dr. Judd, Hawaii's Friend, written by his name-sake and grand-nephew and published by the University of Hawaii press should appear on your must-reading list. Dr. Judd came to the Sandwich Islands as missionary-physician on board the Parthian, a member of the third company of missionaries to Hawaii. With him was his very strong-minded wife, Laura Fish Judd.

From 1827 to 1833, he was the principal physician in the islands. He acquired a perfect knowledge of the Hawaiian language and developed a tremendous insight into the Hawaiian character. His contacts with the chiefs and the king gradually drew him into the councils of the government. He was referred to as the "White King" because of his strong influences over Kamehameha the Third.

By 1842 he found it necessary to resign from the Hawaii Mission Board to become the Secretary of Interior, and finally Minister of France. During all of this time he was in fact Prime Minister. This was resented by many of the Foreign influences in Hawaii.

After the attempt by the French admiral and the French minister to Hawaii to take over the Hawaiian government in 1849, he headed a diplomatic mission to the United States, England, and France for the purpose of obtaining reparations from the French government and to obtain treaties from the United States, Great Britain, and France which would guarantee independence of the Hawaiian kingdom. In the latter attempt he was quite successful. The Princess Alexander and Lot accompanied him on this important mission.

King Kamehameha the Third appointed him chairman of a commission to write his very liberal constitution in 1852.

This man's life is powerfully written. Drama and suspense reach a climax when Dr. Judd administers the government from the Royal catacombs during the French attempt to overthrow the Kingdom.

Kenneth Slack, Librarian

well," as stated by Theodore Roosevelt, was echoed by Mr. Romney. This, he said, will insure your getting a better job later. Joy, only a by-product, comes through struggle, risk, and achievement. "And life is that we may have joy."

"Every good and excellent thing stands on a razor's edge of danger and must be fought for. Nothing can be attained without effort."

God reveals in each age "particular truths" to enable people to meet the problems of that age. Mr. Romney stated. Through revelations received by Joseph Smith, the people of this age are able to reconcile scientific truths with religious faith.

The purpose of the existence of the United States is to free men from all forms of bondage. Brother Romney believes this generation faces a great struggle to keep the nation strong at a time of "great abundance."

The assembly was well attended by faculty, Church College students, townspeople, and out-of-town visitors. The next day Brother Romney addressed the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce in Honolulu, where his message was enthusiastically received.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In the daytime the library is a constant hum of chattering and visiting. I realize it is sometimes more enjoyable to talk instead of to study, but there are an unfortunate few who would rather study than visit while occupying library space. These few find it impossible to maintain even a small amount of concentration.

Would it be too much to ask of the friendly folks who talk in the library please to put consideration before convenience?

STUDIOUS

Call Me Ish

I firmly believe that one of the most important elements in any effectively run organization is good two-way communication. Any psychologist will say that the talking out of one's problems is one of the best psychological therapies that there is. Whether there is credence to these philosophies will be borne out by your attendance and participation in next Thursday's student assembly when the state of the Student Body message will be given.

I don't think that there is any on here who does not have some problem, gripe, criticism, suggestion or observation on the way that your student government is being and can be run. The thing is, nothing's going to happen and no one is going to benefit, particularly, if we all keep our mouths shut. Now I don't mean that we students haven't said anything about the way that this school is run or that we suffer from a lack of the discussion of our problem. On the contrary, I think that we're about as vocal and as noisy (except, perhaps, at basketball games) as any group of people can be. The trouble is, we most of the time express our thoughts and gripes and make suggestions to the wrong people. To the people who can do relatively little about the problem we're concerned about.

In order to remedy this situation, Dean Olson, Dr. Wootton, Dr. Anderson, and the rest of the faculty will be at the meeting to ask and answer questions. I'm quite sure that there are just as many faculty members who would like to know about the way the student government is being run as there are students who would like explanations of the reasons behind certain controversial policies and procedures used by both the administration and the student government.

In the state of the Student Body Message, I will try as much as possible to explain some of the problems that the student government has faced and will also try to explain the philosophies and factors behind the decisions that have been made. I will also discuss such items as the student body budget and where the dues money goes. I will discuss such problems as the student handbook, student assemblies, socials, other campus activities, constitutional review and other such problems as the audience cares to discuss.

Special projects, activities, and problems for next semester will also be included in the message. The reasons surrounding my resignation and why I do not want to stay in office under present conditions may be discussed.

This should be a good opportunity for all of us to air our views on our situation here at CCH and to demonstrate how maturely we can handle our own problems.

See you all there.

Coach Al Lolotai Boasts Varied Talents: Wrestling Champ, Church Teacher, Coach

By Jim Boston

Albert Lolotai was born in Western Samoa on the island of Upolu in the village of Laulii. Today he is back in the islands of the Pacific, but in Hawaii rather than in Samoa.

Even though I found his cooperation with the Ke Alaka'i encouraging, he's quite modest about his accomplishments, and he mentioned them only in response to direct questions I put to him.

Coach Lolotai—athletic director, chairman of the Department of Health and Physical Education, coach of basketball, wrestling, and I don't know what else—started his high school career at Iolani in Honolulu. There he played football and was chosen Inter-scholastic All-Star.

In 1946 he won the amateur Hawaiian heavyweight championship in wrestling. He then began a tour, wrestling in Canada, the Midwest, the West Coast, New Zealand, Australia and Samoa. Later he played football one year with the Washington Redskins, now of the National Football League. His first year in professional football he was selected rookie lineman of the year. Later he played five years with the pro Los Angeles Dons.

In 1953 Al received his BS Degree from Colorado State University. He was on the football and wrestling coaching staffs while working for this degree.

In 1957 he took the position he now holds on the CCH faculty and in the same year won the pro heavyweight wrestling championship of Hawaii, a title he still retains and actively defends.

In 1958 he was the director and supervisor of a boy's work group in conjunction with Libby McNeill and Libby Pineapple Company.

It seems that athletics leave him little time for other activities, but we find he has been a stake missionary for the Church and is now a Sunday School teacher, holding the priesthood of a Seventy.

When I asked Coach Lolotai how the future of our athletic program at CCH looks, he stated, "I think the future of varsity athletics at CCH is very bright indeed. With the coming addition of new staff members in the department and increased student enrollment I am sure that other areas of sports will be included in the program. Football is under serious consideration at the moment."

Perhaps disclosing a man's past like this is not quite proper, but we feel we should know our faculty. During this interview with Coach Lolotai it was pointed out that he was quite successful in football and wrestling before he ever got his degree at Colorado. To this, he said, "Yes, everything backwards."

Ke Alaka'i wishes to congratulate Al Lolotai as the founder and father of the CCH athletic program and extend the gratitude and good wishes of the student body to him.

Swimming Team Drilling for Meets

CCH is organizing some of its natural swimmers into a team under the coaching of Maner Hite.

If you frequent the swimming pool afternoons at four you can't help but notice a group of boys either running through their warm-ups or playing what looks like blood and guts in the water. The game is water polo and is an excellent conditioner in preparation for the swimming meets that start the latter part of February.

It is hoped that games of water polo can be scheduled before this time with the University of Hawaii, the Punahou Alumni, and the Biltmore and Namakapoo groups.

CCH Coach Maner Hite is a graduate and former member of the swimming team from Punahou. He seems sincerely thrilled with the fine facilities and material he has to work with and hopes to build in time a team as good or even better than that of the University of Hawaii under Sakamoto.

The boys you might notice afternoons practicing at the pool include Gerald Hekeka, Willie Ah Mu, Emil Wolfram, Heinie Peters, and Stewart Bell.

SPORTS BYLINE

By GLENN ADAMS

Basketball, basketball and more basketball! That's the big news at CCH today. As of January 10 the team sports a 3-2 standing. After losing their first game by two points in an overtime game the team came back to make an impressive win over a businessman's league team. After that the team also won over the Marines twice in a row. Then came the Golden Dragons Army team; the CCH team was shaded by three points in a very hard-fought game.

"Tiny" Earl scored 25 big points in the second Marine game and scored 15 in the Army game. In the Marine game Earl put in 15 straight free throws. Angel also scored 17 points in the Army game. Good work, men.

Besides the basketball team, we have a going wrestling team. Being last year's champs, the CCH grapplers have much to uphold in their sport this year. We're sure that they will also take state champions again this year. The team is coached by Al Lolotai.

In the way of surfing, it has been noticed that Scott has a new surf board. It seemed to be working fairly well over around the other side of the island.

Since the cooler time of the year has come, many ski sweaters are being worn around campus. I guess the wearers are praying for snow.

THE END IN VIEW

"I packed my parachute myself," remarked the nervous student pilot, "but I'm sure it isn't going to open."

"In that case," replied the instructor, "you may be jumping to a hasty conclusion."

Wrestling Tourney To Be Held Jan. 28

One of the strongest CCH wrestling teams ever assembled will host an invitational wrestling tournament on January 28.

Last year's champs, the Marine team, will be back along with Barber's Point, Schofield, YMCA and Navy's team, that is favored to win this year.

On the basis of its victories in its last meet at Pearl Harbor, CCH will be very much in the running.

The CCH wrestling team includes: 114.5—James Nakamura; 125.5—Kingsley Luke; 136.5—Don Webb; 147.5—Morton Muti, David Tausiga; 160.5—Robert Periton, Lem Galeai, Curtis Kaneko; 174—John Latu, Tauivi Manu; 191—Vea Vehikite, John Brown; Heavyweight — Steve Glenn, Robert Auelua.

Awards Given to Winning Runners

CCH athletes are setting a heated pace this year, and out in front is Phil Valentine, representing Kakela.

With a record time of 10:33.8 for the cross country, Phil smashed the old record of 11:35 set in 1958 by Viliami Hemaloto by almost a full minute.

Wonder what Coach Riggs has been doing to his track and field team? They must be eating outside the cafeteria. Last year's cross country was run in the much slower time of 11:53.9 with Jim Allen of California coming in first and Viliami placing second.

In addition to Valentine five others were given cross country awards. They are Morton Muti, Tauivi Manu, Joe Fatefehi, Kingsley Luke, and Vea Vehikite.

Pina-Pong Champ Is Richard Amine

Recent winners of the CCH intramural ping-pong championships were, first, Richard Amine of Kakela, second, Sione Kini of the Commuters; and third, Richard Saiki of Kakela.

All-American Team Named for 1960

And so the football season says adieu for another year. To all those sports enthusiasts who followed football nationally here's a list of the college All-American team picked by the Associated Press. How does it compare with your selections?

The team includes Dan LaRose, Missouri, and Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh, at ends; tackles Ken Rice, Auburn, and Bob Lilly Texas Christian; guards Tom Brown, Minnesota, and Ben Balme, Yale; center Roy McKasson, Washington. Backs are Joe Bellino, Navy; Jake Gibbs, Mississippi; Bob Ferguson, Ohio State; and Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State.

Seasiders Lose To Golden Dragons

CCH basketball team received its second defeat in five starts against a highly talented Schofield five Saturday, January 7, in a pre-season game.

The Seasiders led until midway through the second quarter on the merits of sharp-shooting Ed Angel and Earl Veloria, but then the Golden Dragons started, using their six-footers plus their "All-American" Gordon to control the ball.

In the fired-up fourth quarter CCH came back to outscore the Dragons 23-6 but couldn't quite make it before the buzzer sounded. The final score was 67-70 for the Golden Dragons.

CCH Wrestling Team Takes Championship

How many of you knew that the Church College has a wrestling team besides a basketball team? Yes, we do have one. As a matter of fact, the CCH wrestling team is the champion team of Hawaii.

On November 19, the team came out in second place in its first meet at Bloch Arena. But on December 17, our state champions literally walked off with the AAU All-Comers Wrestling Tournament Championships. The Wisdom . . .

A school teacher left the classroom for a couple of minutes. When she returned she saw written on the blackboard, "I'm the best kisser in the class."

"Who wrote this on the blackboard?" she asked.

"I did," admitted Tommy.

"You stay after school."

The next day a girl classmate confronted Tommy.

"Se, it doesn't pay to misbehave," she needed.

"No," said Tommy, but it pays to advertise."
